

ABOVE LEFT: In this Coral Gables foyer from Dunagan Diverio Design Group, a commanding ash-on-linen portrait by Chinese artist Zhang Huang is accentuated by two carved totems, imbuing the space with an eclectic and collected look. ABOVE RIGHT: The side entrance of this residence in Naples charms with its organic touches of wood, a chic and inviting proposition created by designer Jett Thompson. BELOW LEFT: As you enter this Pinecrest home, a dramatic staircase soars to the right. Designer Adriana Hoyos amped up the drama by making the landing steps bigger, adding gray porcelain walls, and installing drop ceilings with indirect lighting. BELOW RIGHT: In this Pelican Bay condo in Naples, doors open to a foyer that dazzles with Art Deco touches. "You only get that first impression once," says designer Renée Gaddis. "We really wanted drama, so we created a jewelry box effect in the entry."
